

CLEVELAND CLINIC JOURNAL OF MEDICINE

VOLUME 57 · NUMBER 7 · OCTOBER 1990

HIGHLIGHTS FROM MEDICAL GRAND ROUNDS

WILLIAM S. WILKE, MD, EDITOR

Recognition and treatment of cocaine abuse 595

MICHAEL R. JAFFE, DO

The changing demographics of cocaine abuse and its varied manifestations require a high index of suspicion for timely diagnosis and treatment.

Key steps in evaluating the dizzy patient 596

MARTIN A. SAMUELS, MD

A carefully constructed history is usually adequate to diagnose vertigo from other forms of dizziness.

BENCH TO BEDSIDE

BEN H. BROUHARD, MD, EDITOR

Lipoprotein abnormalities in the progression of renal disease 599

BEN H. BROUHARD, MD

MICHAEL D. CRESSMAN, DO

KIMBERLY C. IRVIN, MD

AND NICHOLAS T. STOWE, PHD

Animal models suggest that lipid-lowering agents may benefit patients with chronic progressive renal disease.

MANAGING THE DIABETIC SYNDROME

BYRON J. HOOGWERF, MD, EDITOR

Visual compromise in the diabetic patient 605

BYRON J. HOOGWERF, MD

The importance of an aggressive approach to diagnosis, management, and follow-up of diabetic retinopathy cannot be overstated.

Managing diabetic retinopathy 609

Z. NICHOLAS ZAKOV, MD

A team approach involving an ophthalmologist, endocrinologist, and primary care physician is the key to successful management of diabetic retinopathy.

CONTRIBUTIONS

Perioperative management of 63 patients with pheochromocytoma 613

AZMY R. BOUTROS, MB

EMMANUEL L. BRAVO, MD

GIORGIO ZANETTIN, MD

AND RALPH A. STRAFFON, MD

Pheochromocytoma patients can undergo successful surgery without preoperative profound alpha-adrenergic blockade.

Continued on next page

Electrocardiographic criteria for anterior myocardial infarction 618

KAREN B. JAMES, MD
TIMOTHY P. OBARSKI, DO
AND DONALD A. UNDERWOOD, MD

Five criteria tested in 1,324 consecutive patients confirmed the diagnostic value of the standard 12-lead electrocardiogram.

Serial electrophysiologic testing of drug therapy in supraventricular tachycardia 622

HASSAN M.K. NAGI, MD
SERGIO L. PINSKI, MD
SHERIF MOKHTAR, MD
YEHIA SAAD, MD
AND JAMES D. MALONEY, MD

Serial electrophysiologic studies can identify effective drug therapies and predict clinical outcome.

REVIEW

Pharmacology and use of headache medications 627

GLEN D. SOLOMON, MD

Successful headache treatment depends on correlating the pathophysiology of the disease with drug pharmacology.

CASE REPORTS

Metastatic carcinoma of the prostate with hypercalcemia 636

JAY H. AVASHIA, MD
T. DECLAN WALSH, MSC
ANTHONY J. THOMAS JR., MD
MITCHELL KAYE, MD
AND ANGELO LICATA, MD, PHD

Hypercalcemia in a patient with advanced prostatic cancer was probably a metabolic complication.

Pneumomediastinum and subcutaneous emphysema during laparoscopy 639

SANTOSH B. KALHAN, MBBS
JOHN A. REANEY, MD
AND ROBERT L. COLLINS, MD

Pneumomediastinum and massive subcutaneous emphysema developed during a diagnostic and operative laparoscopy with laser fulguration of endometriosis.

Parenteral nitrogen mustard for inflammatory arthritis 643

WILLIAM S. WILKE, MD
CHARLES SEXTON, MD
AND WILLARD STECK, MD

Intravenous nitrogen mustard may be an alternative therapy for progressive psoriatic arthritis that is refractory to methotrexate.

The effects of steroid therapy on pulmonary hypertension secondary to fibrosing mediastinitis 647

EDWARD M. CORDASCO, JR, DO
MUZAFFAR AHMAD, MD
ATUL MEHTA, MD
AND FELIPE RUBIO, MD

Steroid therapy can be used most effectively if hemodynamic and scintigraphic studies are performed before and after a therapeutic trial.

EDITORIALS

Diphosphonates in the treatment of osteoporosis 653

ANGELO A. LICATA, MD, PHD

Etidronate disodium has been shown to increase bone density and decrease fracture rates, but it may have more important applications in the prevention of bone loss.

The electrocardiogram in remote myocardial infarction: reassessment of criteria 655

WILLIAM L. PROUDFIT, MD

Specificity and positive predictive accuracy are more important than sensitivity in clinical electrocardiographic diagnosis.

DEPARTMENTS

CME Calendar	590
Erratum	654
Information for Authors	657
Book Reviews	658