MEDICAL GRAND ROUNDS

■ WILLIAM S. WILKE, EDITOR

The different faces of thyrotoxicosis 259

Hyperthyroidism manifests itself in many ways, but clinical cues and the radioactive iodine uptake test can narrow the diagnosis.

L. BRAVERMAN

Contemporary issues in cost-effective drug therapy 261

There is more to controlling pharmacy costs than choosing the least expensive drug. Preventing medication errors and reducing overall costs is key.

CLINICAL DECISION-MAKING

■ GARY S. HOFFMAN, EDITOR

Interpreting serologic tests for hepatitis C virus infection: balancing cost and clarity 264

ELISA screening tests for HCV have unacceptably high false-positive rates. Newer tests are more accurate, but costly.

G.S. LONG, B.R. BACON, AND A.M. DI BISCEGLIE

INTERPRETING KEY TRIALS

Prevention of insulin-dependent diabetes mellitus: an overview of three trials 270

Clinicians are eagerly awaiting the results of three large-scale trials using different approaches to prevent IDDM.

D.A. SCHATZ, D.G. ROGERS, AND B.H. BROUHARD

CARDIOLOGY DIALOGUES

■ JAMES THOMAS, EDITOR

Preventive cardiology: Whose job is it? Who will pay for it? What is the best strategy? 275

Should cardiologists, internists, or nurse practitioners lead prevention efforts? What is the role of diet in the era of the statins?

D. LEVY AND D.L. SPRECHER

CLINICAL REVIEWS

Strategies for managing atrial fibrillation 282

The limitations of current therapies for atrial fibrillation are forcing a rethinking of how they should be used.

M.S. KATCHER, C.B. FOOTE, M. HOMOUD, ET AL.

Preoperative autologous blood donation: clinical, economic, and ethical issues 295

Autologous blood transfusion is not without risk. The expense involved in reducing the use of allogeneic blood raises a number of ethical issues.

R.E. DOMEN

CANCER DIAGNOSIS AND MANAGEMENT

■ MAURIE MARKMAN, EDITOR

What does tumor shrinkage mean to the patient receiving chemotherapy? 301

Chemotherapy is often considered successful if the tumor shrinks. But does tumor shrinkage alleviate symptoms and prolong life?
