

TABLE OF CONTENTS

FROM THE EDITOR

Trying to get ahead of Alzheimer disease 517

Sorting out patients destined to have Alzheimer disease remains a challenge.

Brian F. Mandell, MD, PhD

COVID-19 CURBSIDE CONSULTS

SARS-CoV-2 and myocardial injury: Few answers, many questions 521

What is the mechanism? Is this a distinct population? What are the treatment options?

Paul C. Cremer, MD

COVID-19 CURBSIDE CONSULTS

Management of patients with COVID-19 in the MICU 526

The main goals are to ensure caregiver safety and provide the highest quality care.

Chao Ping Wu, MD; Mani Latifi, MD; Eduardo Mireles-Cabodevila, MD

THE CLINICAL PICTURE

5-Fluorouracil-induced encephalopathy 532

A woman on chemotherapy for rectal cancer presents with mental status changes.

Yudai Yano, MD; Akira Kuriyama, MD, MPH

THE CLINICAL PICTURE

Polypoid melanoma mistaken for verruca vulgaris 534

Polypoid melanoma is highly aggressive and often misdiagnosed.

Andrea Tan, MD; Daniel Gutierrez, MD; Nooshin K. Brinster, MD; Jennifer A. Stein, MD, PhD

COMMENTARY

Emerging blood-based biomarkers for Alzheimer disease 537

A blood test for Alzheimer disease could help in drug development and patient care.

Lynn M. Bekris, PhD; James B. Leverenz, MD

1-MINUTE CONSULT

Should women with HPV-related noncervical cancers be considered at high risk for cervical cancer? 541

Yes. Lacking guidelines, close surveillance is prudent.

Suneela Vegunta, MD; Margaret E. Long, MD

EDITORIAL

The HPV vaccine: Understanding and addressing barriers to vaccination 545

Key steps include optimizing clinician-patient communication.

Pelin Batur, MD

CONTINUED ON PAGE 516

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 514

REVIEW

Polymyalgia rheumatica: An updated review 549

Suspect it in older patients with bilateral shoulder and hip stiffness in the morning.

Salman Bin Mahmood, MBBS; Elizabeth Nelson, MD; Jessica Padniewski, DO; Rawad Nasr, MD

REVIEW CME MOC

Thoracic aortic aneurysm: Optimal surveillance and treatment 557

Early detection, surveillance, and treatment are critical.

Tom Kai Ming Wang, MBChB, MD(res), FRACP; Milind Y. Desai, MD

REVIEW

Managing adult asthma: The 2019 GINA guidelines 569

All patients should take inhaled corticosteroids daily or as needed.

Yael Mauer, MD, MPH; Rachel Metzger Taliencio, DO

DEPARTMENTS

CME Calendar 519

CME/MOC Instructions 576

Upcoming Features

- COVID-19 and secondary pneumonia
- COVID-19 and the kidney
- Perioperative care of the pregnant patient
- Electrodiagnostic studies: How to use and interpret
- When premature babies grow up

